Options XIII

Washington, DC, USA

30 August - 2 September 2026

On behalf of the International Society for Respiratory Viruses (ISRV), we are delighted to welcome you to the Options for the Control of Influenza XIII Conference, taking place 30 August – 2 September 2026 in Washington, DC at the Washington DC Convention Center.

The Options conference is the largest global scientific meeting focused on influenza prevention, control, and treatment. In 2026, we will once again bring together the world's leading experts in virology, clinical care, public health, and vaccine research to share the latest evidence, foster collaboration, and advance the global response to influenza.

The 2026 meeting is being planned by four Scientific Track Committees: Clinical Science, Public Health, Virology & Pathogenesis, and Implementation. These committees, led by dedicated Track Co-Chairs and composed of international experts, are curating a high-impact scientific program that reflects the latest advances and ongoing challenges in influenza control. Our goal is to offer a modular and integrated agenda, allowing attendees to tailor their experience to their specific research and clinical interests.

Like its predecessors, Options XIII will provide its supporters and industry exhibitors access to 1500 global leaders from the world's top educational institutions, healthcare facilities and government agencies. We anticipate attendance by leading virologists, infectious diseases, pulmonary/critical care specialists and other clinicians, scientists, public health and epidemiology researchers and specialists, health care policy makers and government and non-government agency staff. Activities have been scheduled to facilitate numerous opportunities for informal discussions and the exchange of ideas among academia, governmental agencies, and industry.

The opportunity to reach a multidisciplinary respiratory virus audience only comes once every two years. We urge you to mark your calendars and confirm your participation at the Options for the Control of Influenza XIII Conference. Key thought leaders across this discipline will be there; will you?

We appreciate your support of this important event.

Sincerely,

Justin R. Ortiz, MD, MS
